

EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT - SYSTEM TEST

This Employment Agreement is made on 10 May 2026 between:

Party A / Employer:

GreenTech Services Ltd.

Registered Address: 21 Market Road, Birmingham, B1 2AB

Party B / Employee:

Emily Carter

Residential Address: 6 Oak Street, Birmingham, B12 7CD

Article 1 Contract Type

This Agreement is a fixed-term employment contract.

Article 2 Job Title and Duties

Party B shall work as an Administrative Assistant. Party B shall perform administrative support, document filing, meeting arrangement, data entry, and any other duties assigned by Party A from time to time. Party A may adjust Party B's duties according to business needs.

Article 3 Contract Term

The employment shall commence on 15 May 2026 and shall continue until 14 May 2027.

Upon expiry, both parties may discuss renewal.

Article 4 Work Location

Party B's primary work location shall be Party A's office at 21 Market Road, Birmingham, B1 2AB. However, Party A may require Party B to work at any other branch, client site, remote location, or temporary workplace arranged by Party A without additional compensation.

Article 5 Salary Amount and Payment Cycle

Party B's monthly salary shall be GBP 2,200 before tax. Salary shall normally be paid on the 10th day of each month by bank transfer. Party A reserves the right to delay, reduce, or suspend salary payment if Party B fails to meet performance expectations or violates company rules.

Article 6 Working Hours and Overtime

Party B's standard working hours shall be 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. from Monday to Friday. Party B may be required to work overtime, weekends, public holidays, or urgent additional hours whenever requested by Party A. Such additional work shall be considered part of Party B's normal duties and no separate overtime payment shall be made unless Party A decides otherwise.

Article 7 Probation Period

The probation period shall be six months from the employment start date. During probation,

Party A may terminate this Agreement immediately if Party B is considered unsuitable, without prior notice or severance payment.

Article 8 Social Insurance and Benefits

Party A may provide social insurance, pension contribution, medical insurance, work-injury insurance, paid annual leave, sick leave, or other benefits according to internal company policy. The specific benefit arrangement shall be subject to Party A's final decision.

Article 9 Termination Conditions

Party A may terminate this Agreement at any time if Party B's performance, attitude, attendance, cooperation, or suitability is considered unsatisfactory by Party A. Party A is not required to provide detailed reasons before termination. Party B must give 90 days' written notice before resignation. If Party B fails to provide full notice, Party A may deduct salary equivalent to the shortfall notice period.

Article 10 Breach Liability and Penalty

If Party B resigns before the end of the contract term, refuses assigned duties, discloses company information, or causes any inconvenience to Party A, Party B shall pay liquidated damages equal to three months' salary. Party A may deduct such amount directly from Party B's unpaid salary, bonus, reimbursement, or other payable amount.

Article 11 Training Cost

Party A may provide internal or external training to Party B. If Party B leaves the company within 24 months after receiving training, Party B shall reimburse all training costs, administrative costs, travel costs, and any other related expenses determined by Party A.

Article 12 Confidentiality

Party B shall keep confidential all business information, client information, technical information, internal documents, salary information, and operational data obtained during employment. This obligation shall continue after termination of employment.

Article 13 Intellectual Property

All documents, reports, templates, ideas, records, files, software materials, and work results created by Party B during employment shall belong exclusively to Party A without additional payment.

Article 14 Data and Privacy

Party A may collect, store, use, transfer, or process Party B's personal information for employment management, business operation, compliance, monitoring, security, and internal record purposes. Party B agrees that Party A may determine the scope and method of such data processing.

Article 15 Variation of Terms

Party A reserves the right to modify this Agreement, company policies, salary structure, work location, duties, working hours, reporting line, performance standards, and benefit arrangements from time to time. Such changes shall take effect after internal notice or publication.

Article 16 Dispute Resolution

Any dispute arising from this Agreement shall first be resolved through negotiation. If negotiation fails, the dispute shall be submitted to a dispute forum, arbitration body, or court selected by Party A.

Article 17 Entire Agreement

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties.

Article 18 Reserved Clause: Detailed Probation Arrangement

Although this Agreement mentions a probation period, it does not clearly specify the detailed probation assessment criteria, written evaluation procedure, review date, appeal mechanism, or the exact conditions under which Party B may pass or fail probation. The detailed probation rules are therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 19 Reserved Clause: Statutory Social Insurance Details

Although this Agreement refers to social insurance and benefits, it does not clearly specify the exact contribution rates, contribution base, start date of contribution, responsible party, payment method, or the detailed scope of pension insurance, medical insurance, work-injury insurance, unemployment insurance, maternity-related insurance, or other mandatory employment contributions. These statutory social insurance details are not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 20 Reserved Clause: Paid Leave and Rest-Day Arrangement

Although this Agreement refers to paid annual leave and sick leave, it does not clearly specify the number of annual leave days, sick leave procedure, public holiday entitlement, weekly rest-day protection, emergency leave, unpaid leave, or the method for approving and recording leave. The complete paid leave and rest-day arrangement is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 21 Reserved Clause: Overtime Approval and Compensation Method

Although this Agreement refers to overtime, weekends, public holidays, and urgent additional working hours, it does not clearly specify the overtime approval procedure, overtime calculation method, overtime payment rate, compensatory leave arrangement, payment date, or record-keeping method. The overtime compensation mechanism is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 22 Reserved Clause: Employer Termination Notice Obligation

Although this Agreement includes termination conditions, it does not clearly specify the notice period that Party A must provide before terminating Party B's employment. It also does not clearly state whether written warning, consultation, severance payment, evidence of misconduct, or a formal performance improvement process is required before termination. Party A's termination notice obligation is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 23 Reserved Clause: Employee Resignation Procedure

Although this Agreement states that Party B must give 90 days' written notice before resignation, it does not clearly specify the resignation submission method, approval procedure, handover requirements, final salary settlement date, unused leave settlement, or the consequences of delayed approval by Party A. The employee resignation procedure is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 24 Reserved Clause: Detailed Breach Liability for Both Parties

Although this Agreement includes breach liability and penalty terms for Party B, it does not clearly define Party A's liability for breach of contract, delayed salary payment, improper termination, failure to provide statutory benefits, or unilateral modification of employment conditions. The mutual breach liability of both parties is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 25 Reserved Clause: Data Protection and Privacy Safeguards

Although this Agreement refers to data and privacy, it does not clearly specify the retention period, access control method, deletion procedure, data correction right, third-party transfer rules, data security measures, or notification procedure in the event of a data breach. The detailed protection of Party B's personal information is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 26 Reserved Clause: Intellectual Property Boundary

Although this Agreement states that work results created by Party B during employment shall belong to Party A, it does not clearly distinguish between work created during working hours, work created outside working hours, pre-existing personal materials, open-source materials, independently created materials, or materials unrelated to Party A's business. The boundary of intellectual property ownership is therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.

Article 27 Reserved Clause: Detailed Dispute Resolution Procedure and Governing Law

Although this Agreement includes a dispute resolution clause, it does not clearly specify the governing law, competent labour arbitration body, competent court, location of dispute resolution, time limit for negotiation, procedure after failed negotiation, or whether Party B has an independent right to choose a lawful dispute resolution channel. The detailed dispute resolution procedure and governing law are therefore not fully specified in this Agreement.
